- I plan to vie a brief talk about Mary Elizabeth Wood at the meeting. From some quick reading I did today I discovered there is a paper on Miss Wood by George W. Huang, entitled "Miss Mary Elizabeth Wood: Pinoneer of the Library Movement in China) published in Journal of Lbrary and Information Science (Taiwan), 1975(1):67-78. I will be much obliged if you could find it and email to me as reference? Many thanks.

Harry Potter and the chamber of secrets

by J. K. Rowling

Alternate Titles

Harry Potter et la chambre des secrets
 Harry Potter y la camara secreta

Annotation

The eagerly anticipated sequel to the astounding smash hit Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone is finally here! No need to wait — Harry's back for his second year at Hogwarts, where the infamous Chamber of Secrets has been opened for the first time in 50 years. The monster that is unleashed is literally petrifying Hogwarts students (turning them into stone, that is), and who is the primary suspect? Harry Potter himself. Add to this some enormous spiders, a Deathday Party, a ghost named Moaning Myrtle who haunts the girls' bathroom, and lots and lots of suspense, and you'll soon find yourself engrossed in another terrific tale in which magic does exist and good eventually triumphs over evil.

- annotation: "If readers can get past the somewhat inaccurate title (there are many non-British listings in this work), they will have a hard time ever putting it down. There are over 3,000 entries covering characters in fiction, real-life people, professions, character names, abstract subjects, film and program titles, and much more in the realm of English-language cinema, television, and radio (primarily from Britain, but also from the United States and Australia). There are numerous cross-references, which will keep the reader thumbing though, looking up favorite TV shows, movies, actors, and situations for hours at a time. The author himself justly proclaims in the preface: "But, for now, rejoice! This is homosexuality run amok through Britain's lounges, parlours and dining-rooms." Strongly recommended for large academic and public libraries." (Library Journal, 4/1/94, Vol. 119 Issue 6, p90)
